Tail - Sky Blue DNA

Rib - Silver wire

Body - Flat Silver

Wing - Gold H²O fibre

Black Arctic Fox

Hackle - Kingfisher Blue Cock

Wing - Black Fox Pelt

Secure the hook in the vice. Tie in the thread and wind down to the point tying in a length of Oval Silver. Wind the Oval 4 turns backwards to form a tag, take the Oval between the 2 hooks and pull back towards the head. Secure with the thread and trim off. Cut a section of the DNA mix that has a mixture of the Floro Fibre and the Flash. Tie this in for the tail and take the thread up to the head binding everything in. Trim off the waste Taper the tail with your scissors. Take the thread back to the tail. Tie in a length of Silver wire and a length of flat Silver tinsel and wind the thread back to the head. Wind the flat Silver up to the head forming a neat body. Rib the body with the wire and trim off. Prepare a small bunch of Gold H²O fibre and tie in with well waxed thread so that it is about twice the shank length. Taper the H²O fibres. Prepare a small bunch of Black Arctic Fox leaving mostly underfur in the bunch and tie in so that it is slightly longer than the H²O. Bind down tightly and trim the waste. Tie in a Kingfisher Blue cock hackle by the tip, double it and wind 3 turns, tie in and trim off. Pull the hackle fibres below the hook and lock them down with a couple of turns of thread, or you can tie it in as a beard hackle. Make sure the fibres are nicely spread. Trim off the waste. Prepare a small bunch of Black Arctic Fox Pelt by removing all the underfur. Tie in so that it is slightly longer than the rest of the wing. Bind in tightly and trim off the butts at a taper. Form a neat small head and whip finish. Now apply a coat of superglue and several coats of clear varnish to produce a smooth shiny head.

This fly is also very useful for Sea Trout.
