

ADDITIONS TO TUBES

On any tube that has a tail you can tie the tail onto the hook not the body. The advantage of this is that the tail is less inclined to wrap around the hook. Also if you want to change the length/colour of the fly you can easily do this by changing the tail.

You can also add extra to the head end of a tube which can be as simple as putting a cone on the leader before you tie on the tube to hackles etc. All these are tied on tiny bits of tube liner with each end melted over.
